Story

In continued pursuit of excellence, the grapes for this sublime wine of great value are sourced in Washington's Columbia Valley. Planted by a family whose ancestors first began growing grapes in 15th century in Europe, the traditions transcend into today's practices, with a strong focus on sustainability. Under the continued guidance of Paul Fede's former colleague at a premier California winery and renowned winemaker, Pat Handerson, a beautiful expression of cabernet sauvignon was born. Aged in american oak, we blended a touch of syrah and petite syrah 6 months prior to bottling. Harnessing the power of the fruit and adding the elegance every Gooseneck Vineyards wine delivers, we are proud to pour this cabernet into your glass.

Complements
